

MAY OPEN THE MINES MONDAY

Reports at Scranton Stir Up the Striking Miners

GUARDS DOUBLED

Gen. Gobin Says it May Be so and Hints at Troops' Aid

NO TROUBLE NOW

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)
Scranton, Aug. 2.—Reports here and at Scranton that several collieries are to be started on Monday has a disquieting effect upon the miners.

Guards Doubled
Guards about the collieries are doubled and every precaution is being taken to avoid any outbreak. Up to noon today no effort had been made to send any of the workmen inside of the lines and the strikers had remained quiet.

Gobin Talks
General Gobin said this morning that he had no knowledge of the move of the operators but if they desired to doubtless they would, and if the sheriff couldn't keep order he thought that he and his troops could.

LINE CITY'S NEWS NOTES

Gossip from Beloit Concerning Current Events in That Prosperous City.

Beloit, Wis., Aug. 2.—(Special.)—Alderman John C. Clarke held up a would-be burglar the other night at the point of an empty shot gun.

Secretary Pollock, of the fair association, is engaging some splendid attractions for the fair, among which are a troupe of Japs who give a marvelous performance.

Beloit people, as a rule, think the Elks' Carnival at Janesville, on the same date as the fair in this city, will not hurt the attendance from Janesville to any great extent, as the carnival will be most attractive after night and the fair draws people in the day time.

T. M. Garthwaite, of Chicago, the contractor who is to construct the Beloit library building, will begin operations next week. Engineers are now staking out the ground and starting the excavations.

The executive committee of the Good Roads Association, recently organized, met Wednesday evening and appointed sub-committees to start the campaign for cycle paths on the principal Beloit streets. The most favored plan is to construct the paths of gravel exactly in the center of the street.

Thomas Rogers, an employee of the of the Eureka laundry, of which Barnard & Rosso were the proprietors, a former Janesville boy, has been missing since Sunday and Mr. Rosso has discovered that some $20 of the firm's money has also disappeared. Harry Jasper, a Beloit man was fined $50 in the United States court at Madison for writing an obscene postal card. He was arrested here two weeks ago by a United States marshal.

Alva Snider, optician at Howard's jewelry store has been re-elected president of the Wisconsin State Optical society, making his second term. Mr. Snider read an interesting paper at the convention of the society held this week in Madison.

Dr. M. G. Spawm, medical examiner for Co. L, First regiment, W. N. G., has been appointed acting hospital steward of the regiment and is now one of the staff of non-commissioned officers. Co. L left this morning for an eight days' tour of duty at Camp Douglas.

ARMED FARMERS SAVE CROPS.

Break Down Headgate of Irrigation Ditch to Let Water Escape.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 2.—Superintendent of Irrigation Armstrong has just received a report from Commissioner Banning that thirty farmers, fully armed, marched to the headgate of Fulton ditch, near Henderson, and, breaking down the headgate, allowed an immense amount of water to flow into the ditch, thus saving their crops. When the gatekeeper tried to interfere with them they threatened him with death. Commissioner Banning reports he is unable to learn the name of a single person engaged in the attack. The headgate of Fulton ditch is some ten miles north of Denver, on the Platte, above Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Powers are enjoying a two weeks' outing at "Charley Bluff," Lake Koshkonong.

FOOD SUPPLY IS STILL SHORT

Government Reports Show a Deficiency in the Weight and Number

Washington, Aug. 2.—(Special.)—In the data collected by the treasury bureau of statistics on internal commerce up to the end of June, there is an opportunity for half year, comparisons of commercial movements, such as those of live stock, grain provisions, and produce. The five western live stock markets of Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Louis and St. Joseph, taken as an index of the trade generally, report total receipts of meat producing stock, including cattle, hogs, and sheep, between Jan. 1 and June 30, inclusive, of 14,766,855 head. This was 709,283 head less than for the corresponding period of 1901, and 347,692 head less than for 1900.

Chicago Market
Taking the Chicago market as typical, the monthly average weight of cattle has begun to recover from the lower level of 940 pounds per head in April. In May the average weight of hogs is likewise recovering, but the numerical supply is still nearly a million short of the receipts for the first half of 1901.

TURF KINGS TO MEET TODAY

Lord Derby and Boralma to Trot at Charter Oak Track

DERBY FAVORITE

Everything Points to Fast Time—Purse Worth $50,000 to Winner

CROWD IS LARGE

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Hartford, Conn., August 2.—The track at Charter Oak Park is absolutely perfect for the great race to be held there this afternoon between Lord Derby and Boralma.

Horsemen Enthusiastic
Horsemen are here from all over the country and are enthusiastic over the prospects of a great race between the two kings of the trotting turf.

The betting varies with Lord Derby a favorite at 100 to 75.

Valuable Purse
Both horses are in perfect shape. The stake is worth $20,000 and with the numerous side bets between the two owners it is estimated that it will be worth fully fifty thousand dollars to the winner.

ACCIDENT KILLS MANY NATIVES

Calcutta, August 2.—By the derailment of a train at Khattali station at Meerut sixteen natives were killed and nine Europeans and twenty-one natives injured.

DAKOTA DEMOCRATS CHOOSE CANDIDATES

Convention Barely Touches National Issues, but, Forcibly, Condemns the Railroad Merger.

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 2.—North Dakota Democrats assembled here and put a full ticket in nomination. There was considerable confusion owing to the fact that no slate had been arranged, and the party was very much at sea regarding its course. National issues are scarcely touched upon in the platform, but decided language is used condemning the railroad merger and favoring a resubmission of the prohibition law. Prior to the opening of the convention W. E. Purcell of Wahpeton had been the favorite for the gubernatorial nomination, but he positively refused to permit his name to go before the convention.

The following are the nominees of the convention: For congress, V. R. Lovell and L. A. Ueland; governor, J. E. Cronan; lieutenant-governor, S. K. McGinnis; secretary of state, John Quarnum; auditor, John F. Morrison; treasurer, James McDonald; attorney-general, M. J. Barrett; superintendent of public instruction, V. Stefansson; commissioner of agriculture, O. H. Will; commissioner of insurance, F. A. Willson; railroad commissioners, Charles Peterson, P. L. Pritchard and Oliver Knudson; supreme court, left vacant, and Republican nominee, J. M. Cochrane, Grand Forks, endorsed.

Children Overdressed.
There was a time when the small boy's greatest happiness consisted in going about in his bare feet. The present-day boy wears shoes, and it is quite a novelty to see a shoeless lad. Whereas in former times the average boy underdressed, to-day he is overdressed. The former grew up into a sturdy lad; the latter is tall and scrawny. How times change!—Chester (Pa.) Republican.

What Alligators Eat.
More than once curious things have been found in the stomach of a shark, but never has such an extraordinary collection been found as was discovered recently in the stomach of an alligator. This alligator was killed in the Soudan and was more than 12 feet in length. In its stomach were discovered eighty-five stones, several birds' claws, two human finger nails and three hoofs of a donkey, to one of which a piece of rope was attached.

Massachusetts Marrying Record.
We recently mentioned the fact in one of the Globe "points" that an Illinois minister in forty-two years had performed 1,375 marriage ceremonies, and asked what New England minister can beat this record. We now learn that the Rev. E. A. Buck of Fall River, Mass., has been in the ministry nearly fifty years, has married 1,680 couples, baptized about the same number of children and officiated at about 2,500 funerals. New England is hard to beat.—Boston Globe.

PRESIDENT HAS MANY VISITORS

Newspaper Editors and Senators Dine at Oyster Bay Today

TO TALK POLITICS

Senator Millard, of Nebraska, Among Those Who are Present

SIX ARE PRESENT

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Oyster Bay, August 2.—President Roosevelt this noon entertained at luncheon Hon. Charles Nagle of St. Louis, Silas McBee, Editor of the Churchman, G. B. M. Harvey, Editor of Harper's magazine; Hon. Edward Kent, New York; Senator Millard of Nebraska, and G. W. Hixman, editor of the Chicago Inter ocean.

Opposed President
Senator Millard and his colleague Dietrich were among the bitterest opponents of the President's Cuban policy as to reciprocity and it is believed that he came east to continue the discussion of the question with the President.

Another Earthquake
Buildings Which Escaped First Shock Are Badly Cracked—Special Takes Residents Away.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Aug. 2.—Four earthquake shocks Friday forenoon accelerated the movements of the panic-stricken residents of Los Alamos Valley, who are seeking places of safety. Several buildings which escaped destruction during the first disturbances were badly cracked. One large structure a short distance from Los Alamos was turned partly around on its foundation.

The exodus from the affected district continues, a majority of the refugees departing on a special train sent to their relief from San Luis Obispo. Dispatches from the district say the earth is trembling and the few persons remaining are badly frightened.

Additional details of the shocks of Thursday show that there were numerous narrow escapes from death. Houses crumbled, chimneys were thrown down and furniture tossed about, but there were no fatalities and no accidents of more than a trivial character. It is now estimated that the loss to property in Los Alamos will not exceed $10,000.

Reports from other districts are to the effect that disastrous landslides accompanied the seismic disturbances. In several places great gaps were cut in the mountains, valleys filled up and the topography of the country radically changed.

Knew What He Was Doing.
A boy placed a big apple on the front steps and went across the street to see who would take it. A gentleman who had observed the action said: "You shouldn't do that, my son. Some poor boy may be tempted to steal it." "That's what I'm fishing for, sir. I've hollowed-out the inside and filled it with mustard."

Boon for Sailors.
Thomas W. Lawson of Massachusetts, does not let his interest in the possibly less practical things of life stop with yachts. He has placed a chime of ten bells on an observatory tower at Scituate. The tower itself is a landmark for mariners making Boston harbor from the southward.

To Honor Admiral Schley.
Baltimore is considering a plan of changing the name of its North avenue to Schley avenue, in honor of the rear admiral. The present name is no longer appropriate, the northern boundary of the city having extended far beyond the avenue.

British Eat Much Butter.
Great Britain is the greatest butter-eater among nations—thirteen pounds a head a year—as against eight pounds in Germany, four pounds in France and two pounds in Russia.

Knew Nothing of Horses.
Lord Kitchener says that most of the trouble with remounts in South Africa was due to the fact that the soldiers attending them knew nothing of the care of horses.

DEMAND FOR MEATS INCREASE

Reports Show More Flesh Is Now Being Used Than in the Past.

Washington, August 2.—(Special.)—A rough gauge of the increase in the consuming demand for meats is found in the trunk line shipments of provisions from Chicago and Chicago points. These shipments go primarily eastward from the centers of production in the interior, and secondarily southward. For the first twenty-six weeks of this year 652,217 tons of provisions entered into this movement, compared with 572,815 tons of last year. The gain of 13.8 per cent over last year amounted to an average of 3,054 tons per week more than the weekly demand for 1901.

Market Report
The five markets reporting stocks of cut meats had, in round numbers, 245,000,000 pounds of cut meats in stock at the end of June, 1902, against 311,000,000 pounds for the corresponding date in 1901. This is a decrease of 21.2 per cent. At Chicago, the stocks were over 15,000,000 pounds below the level of a year ago. At the four other packing centers reporting there was a reduction of 51,000,000 pounds or 21.1 per cent from the basis of supply available at the end of June 1901.

LUCKY MAN CLINGS TO BURNING BALLOON

Aeronaut Allows Airship to Rise 2,000 Feet, Then Cuts Loose the Parachute.

Bourbon, Ind., Aug. 2.—With his balloon in flames about him Aeronaut Calloway clung desperately to the ropes at Burr Oak, waiting pluckily on the hazard that the balloon would go high enough before collapsing to enable him to cut loose his parachute with a chance of its checking his fall before he reached the earth.

The balloon shot up nearly 2,000 feet and then Calloway dropped, landing with the parachute in safety, almost at the spot whence he started.

The fire occurred through the carelessness of a man who helped the rope. Calloway discovered the flames at the moment of starting and cried:

"Let her go, I think I can reach a safe height before she falls."

CUMMINS AFTER ROCK ISLAND

Iowa's Executive Will Probe Reorganization Plans of the Road.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 2.—Governor Cummins has announced his intention of making a close investigation of the Rock Island reorganization with a view to prevent it if it is contrary to Iowa statutes. PRETTY TRIBUTE BY TEACHERS

GIVE THE COUNTY SUPERINTENDENTS PRESENTS.

WAS A COMPLETE SURPRISE

Ends the Work of the Summer Institute with Interesting Exercises.

Yesterday afternoon at the close of the Rock County Teachers' Institute, which has been in session at the Jansville High school for the past three weeks, an informal reception was held in honor of the County Superintendents William Ross and David Thorne and the two gentlemen were each presented with a handsome rocker, token of the esteem and affection of the conductors of the Institute and of the teachers in attendance.

The two superintendents had planned to hold special exercises to mark the close of the Institute and arranged for several speeches reviewing the work of the Institute. No open opposition was made to these plans, but other arrangements were quietly and secretly made and when the special exercises were held yesterday afternoon, the county superintendents were very much surprised to find that the nature of the program had been completely changed.

Superintendents Eulogized. Instead of being devoted to praise of the Institute, its conductors and those in attendance, it was given up entirely to eulogies of the two able educational leaders, who have served the county so efficiently for the past thirteen years. They entered upon their duties at the same time and their joint administration has been harmonious as well as progressive. The two gentlemen have found personal pleasure in working together and the fact that their work has not been unappreciated was evidenced by yesterday's gathering.

An Eloquent Tribute. George C. Shuts, of the Whitewater Normal school, principal conductor of the Institute, presided and he made the first address of the afternoon. He referred to his own coming to Wisconsin fourteen years ago. The next year he attended his first Institute in the state and there he met, for the first time, William Ross and David Thorne, both of whom were new men in the office of county superintendent. The speaker then reviewed the work of the two superintendents for the past thirteen years and referred in glowing terms to the progress which Rock county has made in that time in educational affairs and to the position, which the county holds in the state.

Rock county has been the first in many educational movements, especially in the betterment of the rural schools. Its members on committees have been successful in influencing legislatures and Supt. Thorne is one of the best political educators. Progress has also been made in the graded schools and more schools in this county have availed themselves of aid from the graded school fund than in any other county. This advance, which has been steadily on ward without pyrotechnic displays, is due largely to the faithful efficiency and ability of the superintendents.

Personal Praise. Miss Basha K. Pease, of Fulton, then spoke in behalf of the first district and its superintendent, Mr. Ross, after which Miss Mary Rye, of Johnson, spoke of the affection which the second district has for Mr. Thorne. Both speakers followed about the same line of thought, referring to the fact that many of the teachers in the country schools today had graduated under one of these superintendents and secured their diploma from him. The teachers had always been pleased to receive one of the superintendent's helpful visits, they accepted whatever criticism was made as just and well meant and each superintendent was considered by the teachers of the district as a personal friend.

Miss Jeannette Sayre, of Beloit, then read the following resolutions:

The Resolutions. Whereas, Superintendents Ross and Thorne have served faithfully and well in the capacity of superintendents of public education in Rock county during these many years and, Whereas, they now see fit to retire from these public duties. Be it

Resolved: That we, the teachers of Rock county here assembled in the Teachers' Institute at Jansville, express our heart-felt appreciation of the kindly sympathy and helpfulness which our superintendents have shown in all their relations to us. Be it further

Resolved: That, with regret at their retirement, we extend our sincere thanks for their aid and friendship. And be it further

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be published in the newspapers of the County.

By the teachers of Rock County at the Jansville Summer Institute.

Miss Cora E. Burr, of Evansville, was then introduced to speak as a delegate at large and during the few well chosen words of her presentation speech, the two rockers were brought in. Both are very handsome ones, with leather seats and hard wood frames, the one chosen for Mr. Ross being finished in mahogany, while Mr. Thorne's is in oak.

An Emotional Scene. Both gentlemen were taken completely by surprise and were so overcome by emotion, that they acknowledged the gifts with great difficulty. The sight was a most affecting one while Mr. Ross and Mr. Thorne were speaking and if there were any dry eyes in the room, they were a rare exception.

A Splendid Institute. The meeting came to a close with the singing of "Home, Sweet Home." The Institute has been signally successful, the good results being most apparent. There has been an attendance of 142 teachers and excellent work has been accomplished.

FAREWELL GIVEN TO MISS LOWELL

AT COURT ST. M. E. CHURCH

Will Go to Japan as a Missionary After Her Marriage to Mr. Hibbard.

Miss Sue E. Lowell, who is to be married on the twentieth of this month to C. V. Hibbard, of Racine, was the guest of honor at an informal reception given last evening by the Epworth League of the Court street M. E. church in the church parlors. The reception gathered an unusual significance from the fact that Miss Lowell and her betrothed husband intend to enter upon their chosen life as missionaries in a foreign field soon after the wedding. They expect to sail the first of October for Tokio, Japan, where Mr. Hibbard will be general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at the Imperial Institute a similar position to that which he held at Northwestern university for the past two years.

Goos To Japan. Miss Lowell has been engaged in a like work, having been general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at the University of Wisconsin for the past year. She is eminently qualified for the wife of a missionary, although her many friends regret that her life work is to take her so far from home. She has been one of the most active and efficient workers in the Epworth League and the reception given by that society last evening was intended as a slight expression of the high affection in which she has been held and of the deep regret which will be caused by her departure.

Large Reception. The reception was largely attended, the guests being received by Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Tippet, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lowell and their daughter, Miss Lowell. The receiving party stood under a canopy of hunting and vines and the parlors were handsomely decorated with great bunches of nasturtiums, golden glow and other cut flowers.

After the greetings were over, the reception became very informal and the evening was spent in games and in general sociability, everyone endeavoring to make this last evening together one of pure delight and perfect enjoyment.

Pretty Table. At a table prettily decorated with marguerites, lemonade and cakes were served by Mrs. J. L. Hay and Misses Beulah Westerfield, Grace Green, Clara Beckwith and Grace Nott.

The Federation of Woman's clubs has extended the right of honorary membership to the men who make Rocky Mountain Tea. Women's greatest benefactor. Smiths' Pharmacy.

BELOIT MAY HAVE BICYCLE PATHS

Will End the Present Trouble About the Wheels in the Line City.

Beloit will soon blossom out with a beautiful system of bicycle paths to take the place of the series of sloughs, swamps and rivulets which make up their street at present whenever any rain chances to fall. That is the conclusion which was reached at a meeting of the Good Roads Association of that city Thursday night.

Committees Appointed. Committees were chosen at the meeting last night to have the matter in charge of pushing the building of the paths for the wheels. There were two committees who together were empowered to manage the work, one of them to look up the general subject and the other to finance the enterprise. These two bodies were instructed to inquire into the whole subject and make a more definite report at the earliest possible date.

Wheel owners will be allowed to pay for the improvements that are about to be made in their behalf. All funds that are collected by tax upon riders will be used wholly for the benefit of the bicyclists. It is the wheelmen who have pushed the matter through and while the council are by no means hostile to the movement, they have given no direct aid.

What They Will do. The plans as advanced up to date, provide for the construction of about two miles of bicycle path of sufficient width to allow wheels to continue their way regardless of the condition of the remainder of the road. The material will be of brick and macadam, as may be decided upon later. Probably both materials will be used in places.

FINE SPECIMENS ON EXHIBITION

Several very fine samples of zinc and lead ore are on exhibition in Hall, Stuyvesant & Field's window. The specimens came from the Jefferson mine at Hazel Green, Wis., which is the property of Peter Mouat, editor of the Recorder. Very few people in the city were aware that Mr. Mouat is the owner of one of the richest zinc and lead mines in the west and has an assured fortune in it.

Mrs. F. F. Aspinwall Dead. Freeport, Ill., Aug. 2.—Mrs. Homer F. Aspinwall, wife of the well known Republican politician, died suddenly.

TOBACCO PLANTS GROWING NICELY

EARLY SETTING, HOWEVER, NOT SUCH GOOD QUALITY.

THE WARM SUN WAS GOOD

Outlook at Present is Bright for a Very Large Yield This Fall.

The last few days of hot dry weather has worked considerable change for the better in growing tobacco. The crop is not as satisfactory up to the present time as it gave promise to be early in the season. Early set crops have suffered the most from the continued rains. The ground became so thoroughly soaked that the plants shot up to an early bud with only a few well developed leaves on the stalk. The rainy season has had a tendency to cause rust and had it continued much longer, it would have caused the plants to rot in the fields.

The hot and rainy weather has caused the earlier set plants to spindle up rather than go to leaf. Very many of them are commencing to bud, though only eighteen inches high, and these plants only contain three or four middle leaves of a size which will warrant their use as wrappers. The remaining leaves are no larger than a man's hand. The more one examines the earlier planted tobacco the more apparent is the situation and the shortage is bound to be a very serious one. The later planted tobacco is undoubtedly a fine crop, but is very doubtful if the total yield of both varieties will reach 75 per cent. of the amount of tobacco usually realized from the same acreage. A small amount of the early set tobacco will be ready for harvest during the coming week.

In cured leaf there is practically nothing doing. The only transactions being the sale of small lots to cigar manufacturers.

In the general market it is out of sheer necessity that manufacturers are buying a few cases and a few bales in order to keep themselves going from week to week or day to day while losing sight of the paying power of smoothing the road for their capacity of increased consumption. This joggling business is good for some, while it is exasperating to others. How much it amounts to is impossible to tell. There is not a house in the market that is not being besieged with demands for binder stock, and yet he little there is, and it is of the most desirable stock left, is being merely priced and then forsaken because its intrinsic value has risen with its scarcity and the general demand for it. And the new crops will not give relief, either. They will only aggravate the perplexing situation and drive prices still higher.

Ohio. In Ohio a quiet but persistent absorption of the remnants of the 1901 crops is in progress and every condition seems to indicate the wisdom of such a course. While the weather has improved and the new crop is advancing, the plants do not seem to be reaching the size they should be at this time. The cool and continued wet weather which has prevailed since the seedlings were set out was not the kind most conducive to rapid growth, and even the present hot and dry weather is not the kind most conducive to rapid growth and the growing crop is undoubtedly more or less stunted.

New York.

The rain barrel is still on tap in New York and growing tobacco is showing the lack of the warm sunshine so necessary for its proper growth. Transplanting is just about completed, and it is time to hoe the earlier seedlings, but the ground is too moist for working, so farmers have little to do but sit idle and cuss the weather man. Packers who are in the habit of looking a long way ahead, evidently believe that any kind of tobacco is better than none and are making a still hunt for 1900 leaf. Naturally the lots are small and scattered, but the quest is kept up nevertheless and the aggregate amount corralled amounts to quite a respectable figure. Everybody here is talking shade grown tobacco and the possibility of inducing the Government to establish an experiment station in Onondago county, which produces one-third of all the tobacco raised in this state. The idea appeals strongly to the farmers, who think the plan would be of considerable financial benefit to them, especially as the expenses would be paid from the money of the people at large.

Connecticut Valley

The hail storm of last week in the Connecticut Valley, has been found to have inflicted the most damage on the earlier set plants, the leaves of which were cut so badly as to preclude their use as wrappers. The younger plants were injured not nearly so much. No accurate estimate of the damage can be made, but it is the prevailing opinion that the loss will amount up into the thousands. Growing crops are doing fairly well, but there is a general tendency to bud out low. The lower the bud the less the number of leaves and although the plants may do exceedingly well from now on, it is pretty certain that the yield per plant will hardly be up to the average. This shortage may be offset by the greater acreage planted, but even this increase has probably been nullified by the hail storm of last week. While farmers generally decry any adverse comment upon the condition of the crop, it is significant that they are holding out for the stiffest kind of figures for their old leaf.

TRIED THE GAME IN OTHER PLACES

Ward, the Forger, Was Not Successful in Every Store Where He Went.

John Ward, the young man, who worked the raised postal money orders on Koerner Bros., and E. J. Smith tried the same game on H. L. McNamara. The order that he tried to pass on Mr. McNamara was the same one that he passed on Koerner Bros. As near as McNamara remembers it was dated Milton Junction and was for $19.25.

Was Abusive. Ward went into Mr. McNamara's store and wanted to get the order cashed. When he was told that they did not do such things, he became quite indignant and became so abusive that Mr. McNamara was on the point of showing him the door when he left. Ward, evidently went straight to Koerner Bros. from Mr. McNamara's and secured the money on the order.

The order cashed at T. J. Ziegler's was not drawn on Jansville, but on Juneau, and it was not known that there was anything wrong with it until the postal authorities wrote to Juneau about it and received notice that the advice for the order was for $2. By the time the facts about the orders were discovered Ward had left Jansville far behind.

SOLD THE STOLEN RAZORS OPENLY

The Robber of Ohlweiler's Barber Shop is a Very Brazen Thief.

The thief that broke into Ohlweiler's barber shop on North Academy street on Thursday night was at John Decker's farm yesterday morning and sold Decker one of the razors for $1. He had the other razors wrapped up in a chambray skin stolen from the shop.

Not Suspicious. Although the man was at the Decker farm in the morning and remained there for half a day and they were suspicious that he did not become rightfully by the razors, they did not report it to the police until they saw the account of the robbery in the Gazette. The razor that Decker bought from the man had Ohlweiler's name on it.

Police Notified. Decker reported the matter to the Chief last evening and a thorough search of the town was made, but without success. The thief is described as being of medium size with a stubby beard and light hair. He had on a dark hat and an alpaca coat. Had Decker notified the police yesterday morning it would have been an easy matter to have caught the man.

"BILL" MERRILL VISITS THE CITY

The Beloit Athlete Stops Over Over in Jansville on His Road to Milwaukee.

"Big Bill" Merrill, of Beloit, who graduated from that college last June was in the city last night on his way to Milwaukee where he will run for the Milwaukee Athletic club in the Caledonian games. His plans are woefully unimpaired, he says, and while some of the reports may express the truth, the future only can tell, which it is. So far as his connection with the Athletic club in the Cream City is concerned, he is with them at present, but this may be his last races for them.

HAS MANY CONTRACTS

James Rawson Gets the Bulk of Valuable Improvements in Iowa. Contractor James Rawson, of Iowa City, was here yesterday looking after his city hall contract. Mr. Rawson stated that he had enough contracts on hand at the present time to keep his force busy for a year. The two buildings at Iowa City which he has the contract for erecting will cost about $140,000. This is the beginning of a million and a quarter of dollars' worth of improvements that the state of Iowa will make in their university and Mr. Rawson expects to get a good share of the work. The buildings are to be strictly fire-proof and outside of the doors and window frames there is to be no wood in them.

DISCOVERS NANSEN'S ABODE

Secures Marine Paintings for the National Museum, Including New Charts—Finds Original Documents in the Hut of Norwegian Explorer.

Honningsvaag, Norway, Aug. 2.—Evelyn B. Baldwin, the arctic explorer, arrived here Friday. He reported all his men in good health, and said:

"We have been baffled, but not beaten. The year's work has been successful in that enormous depots of condensed food have been established by means of sledges—one in Rudolphland, within sight of the Italian expedition headquarters; another in latitude 81 degrees 33 minutes, and a third at Kane Lodge, Greeley Island. These depots, together with houses and stores left at Camp Ziegler, will afford the means for a large polar dash in 1903.

Finds Nansen's Hut.
"All channels through Franz-Josef Land remained blocked with ice during the autumn of 1901 and prevented the establishment of depots by steam-er last year.

"The breaking up of ice early in June compelled the use of reserve supplies, hence the departure from Camp Ziegler on July 1 in order not to imperil the expedition. I dispatched fifteen balloons with 300 messages, and in June I obtained the first moving picture of arctic life. I also discovered Nansen's hut, recovering original documents and securing paintings of the hut. Marine collections for the national museum, including new charts, etc., were obtained.

Return Was Imperative.
In the field work thirty men, thirteen ponies, sixty sledges, and 170 dogs were employed from Jan. 21 to May 21, and this severe work resulted in the destruction of sledges and depletion of the food for ponies and dogs, thus rendering our return imperative. I shall remain at Tromsø for a week for repairs to the American's rudder and propeller frame, which were broken by the ice on the return voyage. The main anchor was lost during a gale in October."

Mr. Baldwin sailed from Varde, Norway, on July 30, 1901. An auxiliary expedition started from Varde on July 7, 1902, under command of William S. Champ, to join them.

INCREASE IN ORE SHIPMENTS

Figures to Date Show 2,500,000 Tons More than Last Year.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 2.—Ore shipments from Duluth, Superior and Two Harbors for July were 2,385,973 tons, against 2,053,838 tons last year, and for the season to date the figures are 7,222,263, against 4,768,735 for the same period last year. During July Duluth shipped 902,064 tons, Superior, 600,000 tons and Two Harbors 886,909 tons. The first two ports each run about 200,000 tons ahead of last year's shipments, while Two Harbors shows a falling off of 75,000 tons this year.

REPORTS IMMENSE WHEAT CROP

Minnesota Hopes to Harvest 110,000,000 Bushels.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 2.—Central western Minnesota keeps in line with other sections of the state, with fine prospects of big wheat crops. If the present conditions continue until harvest a crop of over 110,000,000 bushels is a conservative estimate or the best yield this state has produced in years. The crop in the whole Northwest, including Minnesota, as all known, is a good one, but it is more— it is immense.

RECEIPTS OF GRAIN AND ORE

Comparative Statement of the Season to Date at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 2.—Receipts of grain from the opening of the season to date were 42,061,724 bushels, against 50,484,250 bushels for the corresponding period last season. Flour receipts were 1,224,348 barrels, against 1,441,159 last year. The receipts of iron ore this year show a big gain, the figures showing receipts of 925,805 tons as compared with 362,805 tons to Aug. 1 last year.

SPOONER COMMENT.

Marquette Eagle: The biggest boom in this campaign is that for the re-election of Senator Spooner.

Kansas City Journal: Senator Spooner is worth more to Wisconsin as an advertisement than all the popular laws that can be spread on her statute books.

Hudson Star-Times: Reduced to plain English that resolution means: "Unless Senator Spooner licks Gov. LaFollette's boots, we will lick Senator Spooner, because we are determined to lick him anyhow."

Eau Claire Leader: The Madison convention adhered to LaFollette beyond doubt, but there will be a series of conventions throughout the state from now on that will endorse Spooner men, in proportion to the legislature as there were LaFollette men at Madison.

Gaunt Times: An uncompromising Spooner man is what the republicans of Oconto county demand of their representative this year. There must be no doubt of his position on this question. He must also possess intelligent convictions—a personality that is commanding and irreproachable.

Whitewater Gazette: It seems the storm of protest against LaFollette's ship at Spooner has been greater than was anticipated. Chairman Bryant's sense considerably disturbed over it and the resolution is having considerable effect on the selection of legislative candidates. It may be that enough districts will refuse to let LaFollette appoint their members of the assembly and senate so that some of the more radical of the governor's vagaries will not be carried.

Wisconsin Tobacco Reporter: The great body of delegates who were favorable to the senator were tricked into passing a resolution that conveys only an insult. The platform casts reflections upon a very large class of Republicans and was as offensive in its wording as could well be made. Those Republicans who cannot subscribe to the primary election vagaries of the governor are by this remarkable declaration of principles read out of the party.

Plymouth Review: No one can question the soundness of General Winkler's conclusions concerning the right of the members of a party to hold different opinions on some political questions. To deny that right would argue a narrowness wholly at variance with the principles of a party which since its organization has stood for liberty and equality. The general has not said that he is opposed to the primary election principle, but thinks that there may be an honest difference of opinion in regard to its application; which also seems very reasonable. It is difficult to see how in essential particulars he is opposed to the platform. Of course he does not like the idea of giving Senator Spooner a qualified endorsement, but that is not going to have much influence upon the senator's chances of re-election. General Bryant and General Winkler should not find it difficult to get together.

Tomah Monitor: The Monitor has always supported the republican ticket, national, state and county, no matter what the party platform was and no matter who the candidates were, always has been opposed to populism, LaFolletteism and the Stevens primary election measure, which seems to be about all LaFollette stands for. The Monitor was in favor of an unconditional endorsement of Senator Spooner and thinks the state convention did a very unwise thing in not giving it to him, and we were in favor of Mr. Harvey for state superintendent of schools, and think the republican campaign fund could get along very nicely without the ten or twelve thousand dollars it took to defeat him. (In fact we are opposed to the wholesale bribery of a state convention on general principles). And now the LaFollette state central committee orders all who are not in strict accord with the platform adopted by the last state convention, not to support it.

That 100,000 majority of two years ago must look awful big to LaFollette.

Appleton Post: It is, in fact, the sheerest folly to assume that because a man does not approve of a particular declaration or policy of his party that thereby he is outside of its pale. A considerable percentage of Republicans, including The Post, are not in accord with the official promulgations or purposes of their party in respect of the permanent retention and government of the Philippine archipelago, contrary to the wishes of the inhabitants thereof. Among these are Senators Hoar and Hale, ex-Speaker Thomas B. Reed and scores of others of high and good repute. Senator Spooner has also said in every speech that he has delivered on the subject that he is not in favor of the permanent holding of those islands. And yet are not these distinguished statesmen and their many followers as good republicans as those who find it easy and pleasant to drift with the majority? If so much is not admitted now we are confident that the time will come when their independence will be as generally and earnestly applauded as has been that of Senator Howe, Horace Rublee and the Gold Democrats in 1896 and 1900. "He serves his party best who serves his country best."

Oshkosh Northwestern: The advice of the leaders who have signed this call is summarized in the closing sentences, where it urges all members of the party in this state to continue the plan of organization in the interests of Senator Spooner and to see that only such men are placed in nomination for the next legislature as are not only personally in favor of the retention of the senator, but that they are also instructed by the convention which nominate them to vote unconditionally for his re-election. This is advice which should not be neglected or ignored and if the Republicans of the state take it to heart and follow out the suggestion it will have the desired result. The re-election of Senator Spooner is of just as much importance to this state as the election of the Republican state ticket this fall and the people must do their full duty to see that both of these plans are accomplished without fail.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Senator Spooner is a man who has proved his worth and ability and the people of the state consider it an important matter that he be retained. There are no "ifs" about it and the fact might as well be recognized first as last.

Mr. Frank Beardsley reports that he has the best potatoes in the neighborhood. Good for Frank.

What Osteopathy has Done.

Reported by J. Ivan Dufun, D. O., 44 East Fourth St., Williamsport, Pa.—Case One.

Asthma:—I had been afflicted with asthma for thirty years. During this time I had suffered much, and when he called me he could not walk three squares to his bank. Any exertion brought on a paroxysm, as did also cold or damp atmosphere.

The Osteopathic lesions found were subluxations of the right 4th and 5th ribs, and the left 5th and 6th. After his second treatment he walked 14 squares with no evil effect whatever. He had only one month's treatment. It has been 3 months since he had his last treatment and he has had no return, in any way of his former trouble. I consider this a remarkable case, both on account of the extreme chronic condition existing and of the patient's age which is 70.

Reported by W. S. Elliott, D. O., Harlan, Iowa.

Rev. Geo. S. Hewetson came to my office complaining of what he called "toothache in the shoulder."

He had been examined and treated by eminent physicians both in Europe and America without relief.

The last one who had examined him told him to go to Chicago and have the X-Rays turned on him and with the aid of the surgeon's knife he might be relieved.

He had been compelled to wear glasses for twenty years.

On examination I found the 2d and 3d dorsal vertebrae jammed together interfering with the nerve force to the shoulder also to the eye. After the first treatment he did not suffer with pain nor did he need his glasses. He is loud in the praises of Osteopathy and has done me a great deal of good.

C. W. Bliss, D. O., is located in the Hayes Block.

OVERWORKED WOMEN

Should Beware of a Serious Organic Break-down. Take Heed in Time.

The ordinary every-day life of most of our women is a ceaseless treadmill of work.

How much harder the daily tasks become when some derangement of the female organs makes every movement painful and keeps the nervous system all unstrung!

One day she is wretched and utterly miserable; in a day or two she is better and laughs at her fears, thinking there is nothing much the matter after all; but before night the deadly backache reappears, the limbs tremble, the lips twitch—it seems as though all the imps of Satan were clutching her vitals; she goes to pieces and is flat on her back.

No woman ought to arrive at this terrible state of misery, because these symptoms are a sure indication of womb troubles. She must remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is almost an infallible cure for all female ills, such as irregularity of periods, which cause weak stomach, sick headache, etc., displacements and inflammation of the womb, or any of the multitudes of illnesses which beset the female organism.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. No man will see your letter. She can surely help you, for no person in America has such a wide experience in treating female ills as she has had. Address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free and helpful.

Mrs. Richard Dixon wrote to Mrs. Pinkham when she was in great trouble. Her letters are here printed.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered for four years with pain in my back, and a terrible bearing-down feeling in the lower part of my bowels, and at times the abdomen seems to swell and becomes very sore. I have terrible sharp pains in my ovaries and am very nervous, also troubled with leucorrhoea and irregular menstruation. I have started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I do not feel much better, so I thought I would write and ask you what to do. Please answer soon, as I am a great sufferer and long to get relief."—Mrs. RICHARD DIXON, 11 Farewell St., Newport, R.I. (Jan. 11, 1900.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I want to thank you for your letter of advice. Since taking your Vegetable Compound, Liver Pills, and using your Sanative Wash, as directed by you, my backache and terrible pains in ovaries have disappeared. I feel that your Vegetable Compound should be used by all weak women."—Mrs. RICHARD DIXON, 11 Farewell St., Newport, R.I. (April 11, 1901.)

Will not the volumes of letters from women who have been made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince others of the virtues of this great medicine?

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me?"

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick and discouraged, exhausted with each day's work. If you have some derangement of the feminine organism try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will surely help you.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

TAKE TIME TO LIVE
"Where are you going to spend your vacation, John?"
"Vacation! Why, I never took a vacation in my life, I can't afford the time."
The two business men were in comfortable circumstances, both past middle life, and both ambitious to make money. Tom had discovered that the human machine called the body, needs rest and relaxation and so when nature hung but her signals of warning, he recognized them, and for many years he had taken time to live.
His theory, often expressed, was, that he could accomplish more and better work in eleven months than twelve, and so rest and recreation were religiously observed.
John never gave the matter any thought. "When worn out nature rebelled, he applied a stimulant, which acted like a whip to a tired horse. He was absorbed in business, had no taste for pleasure and regarded men who rested occasionally as extravagant and negligent.

These two men represent two classes of business men. They are found in every community and the ranks of the latter class are being constantly diminished by premature death.
Popular sentiment denounces intemperance as one of the great evils of the day, and young men are frequently reminded that the drink habit shortens life, deadens sensibilities, and results in physical and moral wreckage.
All too true and yet the fact remains, that many men who drink to excess, live to old age, while many others who are practically abstainers drop out in the prime of life, victims to the intemperance of over-work.
Volumes have been written about the evils of intemperance and strenuous efforts have been made to control the traffic by law, while but little is said about the intemperance of over-work, which kills more rapidly.

When a man commits suicide by violent methods, driven to desperation by adverse circumstances, the rash act is condoned and an unbalanced mind is held accountable, but when a man falls by the wayside, in the prime of life, with no apparent reason why he should not have lived out his allotted time, the community is shocked by the tragedy, but slow to recognize the cause.
There are thousands of widows today and a multitude of fatherless homes, where widowhood and mourning have no right to exist and where Providence is in no way responsible.
The man who abuses the laws of health and ignores the laws of nature, invites death and courts disease, just as persistently and just as effectively, as the man who takes slow poison into his system. And yet this species of crime is so common that it bears the stamp of virtue and men are commended for accomplishment by over exertion.

While it is infinitely better to "wear out than to rust out," there is no occasion for either and barring accident and inherited disease, there is no reason why the average man should not live out his allotted time, with several years to the good on borrowed time.
Every man owes it to himself and his family to take time to live. The ambition to make money and accumulate wealth, is a laudable ambition and every man should possess it, yet there is a limit.
The husband and father in the home is worth more to him than the money without him. The man who devotes all of his time and energies to making money, and who neglects every demand for rest and recreation, while not deliberately planning to drop out twenty or thirty years before his time, frequently accomplishes that result.

He may be so absorbed in his work that he enjoys it more than recreation, but that is no argument. The fact is generally recognized that inanimate machinery needs rest and repair. If this is true, it is also true that the body and mind, the finest pieces of mechanism, in existence, can not always endure the high tension to which they are frequently subjected.
Too many men are possessed of the notion that the world could not move without them and that their own business would go to the dogs if they were not present every day to superintend it.

There is occasionally a man that the world misses, but the vacancy is never of long standing. When Lincoln dropped out and the nation felt that the loss was irreparable, it was Garfield who electrified the mob in Wall Street, by saying, "God still reigns and the country still lives."
When McKinley fell, a Roosevelt was ready to take up the burden and go on with the work and while we revere the memory of our martyred dead, the fact is recognized that the nation is moving on with steady stride.

The same conditions prevail in a smaller sense, in every line of business. A man who feels that his daily presence is necessary to the life and success of his business, is forced into retirement by illness, and he never ceases to wonder how the business run without him, but it did.
Responsibility was forced upon other men and they were ready and able to assume it. In fact he never knew the value of the men about him, until they were tested by force of circumstances.

If the retirement was voluntary, instead of forced, and the month spent in bed, had been spent with his family in building up depleted energies, away from the cares of business, results would be still more satisfactory, and he would make the discovery that he was "not the only pebble."

While personal responsibility is a good thing to cultivate, and every man should possess it, there is no man whose constant presence is so necessary to a business, that it cannot run without him.
The number of men in middle life, who are dropping out of the ranks every year as the result of overwork, should be a warning to men in business. There is a limit to human endurance and the laws of health are inexorable. Nature rebels when abused and no man can afford to ignore the warning.
Take time to live and life will not only be prolonged, but a brighter side of it will be revealed. The home will be happier and the chances of the wife becoming a widow prematurely will be greatly lessened. She would rather have you with her on the journey down the shady side, than a stock of bonds and mortgages and a marble shaft.

NOT ANSWERED.
Chairman Bryant, of the Republican state central committee, devotes four columns of space, to what he terms an answer to Gen. Winkler's letter. He produces a labored article which amounts to nothing more or less than a defense of the administration in its attitude toward Senator Spooner and the primary law.
Gen. Winkler and the men he represents, are given to understand that they must get in line or get out. The administration may as well understand first as last, that these men will do neither one nor the other. Republican sentiment throughout the state demands the unconditional support of Senator Spooner. This sentiment has crystallized and strengthened in marked degree, since the governor exposed his hand in the convention and many men, who previous to that time, had been his staunch supporters, are now indifferent or openly opposed to his methods.
The Primary Law, to which Chairman Bryant gives so much attention, is less popular with the people of the state today, than at any time in its history and the statute books will never be cursed with the measure. This much discussed law with the Stevens frills attached, would annihilate all parties and political chaos would result.
The political parties of Wisconsin or any other state, are competent to place in nomination men whom they desire to serve them as candidates.
Chairman Bryant begs the question. He knows, as does the governor, that the majority in the convention represented Democratic caucus support and yet he talks about conscience. That sort of conscience would drive a man to drink. The governor owes his success to methods that were entirely destitute of conscience. The platform adopted was the result and Gen. Winkler is right when he talks about judgment. It has passed the stage of sentiment. If the party is to be saved from political suicide, it will be through efforts of the conservative element, by surrounding the administration with a legislature that will be influenced by judgment rather than that cheap commodity called political conscience. The conservative wing of the party can not be driven out.

The Spooner call issued to all Republicans, is significant, because of the names attached. These men, who were strong administration supporters, have discovered that profession is not always sincere. There is at least one plank in the platform that they do not endorse.
Chairman Bryant is a good letter writer, but too long winded. Very few people enjoy reading a sermon and the Republicans of the state will adopt some shorter method to find out where they are at.
Mayor Rose wants a chance to get after the governor's game wardens. The Democrats have plenty of ammunition for a lively campaign.
With cash coal and a limited grocery credit, what will the average citizen do for beer and tobacco?

In repairing the cable off Martine, it was discovered that the bottom of the ocean had sunk a mile and a half.

The California earthquake will have a tendency to detract from the climate of the Pacific slope. Earthquakes are uncomfortable neighbors.

PRESS COMMENT
Milwaukee Journal: Senator Buckstaff is not overwhelmed with queries about his charges of corruption.
LaCrosse Chronicle: Even the mere suggestion of David Rose in the executive mansion at Madison is enough to make one shudder.
Marquette Eagle: With corn and oats nearing 70 cents, the farmers will hardly go back on Republican prosperity this year.
Cleveland Plain Dealer: Perhaps we should assume that the Cubans are treating the subject with much mildness when they fail to insist that General Bragg's successor must be unmarried.

Racine Journal: And new tax reform laws will provide against double taxation. What people demand is a just as well as equitable tax measure and securing from certain interests their proper share.
Milwaukee Free Press: If General Bragg becomes persona non grata to the great and glorious republic of Cuba, in time, what is the matter with nominating him for governor September 3? It would look like a partial return to consciousness on the part of the Democrats.

Philadelphia Press: The gatemen at the railway depots at New York, object to the bombardment of departing bridal couples with rice and old shoes. What do these gatemen expect filiole friends of the newly married pair to do, throw buckwheat buns and Oxford ties?

Milwaukee Sentinel: Promises are made that General Bryant's letter in answer to General Winkler, will read out of the Republican party all who do not endorse every word of the state platform. This will leave those who are not in harmony with the Democratic platform in a sorry pickle.
St. Paul Globe: A little well-directed gun-play on the part of the public authorities out on those Western ranges where dumb beasts are slaughtered by the hundred in settlement of boundary disputes, would exercise a healthful effect on the animal kingdom in that region generally.

Louisville Courier-Journal: The size of this year's cotton yield is as yet all speculation, but there is no speculation about the great development of cotton manufacturing in the South. And this is but the beginning. What is true of cotton manufacturing is destined to be true of many other industries.
Louisville Courier-Journal: There is an evangelist going about from church to church in Northern Illinois announcing his terms as "$40 a week and fifty conversions guaranteed or money refunded." He seems to be doing business, and yet if he were, say a Mormon, the very people with whom he is doing business now, would probably do it with tar and feathers.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: While David Rose will not say he would refuse the Democratic gubernatorial nomination if it came his way, and while his henchmen are "hunching their darndest" in the endeavor to steer it in this direction, the mayor is nevertheless perfecting arrangements which will make it easier for him to punish opponents and reward supporters if he continued to sit at a desk in the city hall tower instead of moving into the capitol at Madison.
Eau Claire Leader: Kissing has got to go. There is a fierce warfare against the practice in all parts of the country. It is claimed that it is unsanitary and that it wastes time. The colleges are joining in the crusade. The Northwestern university students have declared against it and have formed an anti-osculation society which is assuming immense proportions. The railways are forbidding kissing on station platforms. The next generation may know as little of osculation as a North American Indian.

Oshkosh Northwestern: There is even more of a temptation to use automobiles to "scorch" than there was for the old-time bicycle enthusiast, but the weight of the larger machine and the inability of the driver to check it on short notice, makes the rapidly moving "devil wagons" ten times as dangerous to the general public. It is therefore easily seen that the problem of controlling the speed of automobiles on the public highways is a matter which is destined to receive serious attention in every city of the country in time and the rapid increase in the number of machines in use brings this question to the front more prominently every day.

RAILROAD WORK CAREFULLY DONE

CULVERTS ON NORTH-WESTERN WILL WITHSTAND FLOODS

HIGH STANDARD OF WORK

Combination of Cement and Stone Gives Great Strength to The Improvements

Daily the magnitude of the work that the North-Western is doing on the Madison division to the north of the city becomes more apparent as it can be seen with what nicely each part of the construction is being carried out. The three culverts that are already under way, one of them practically completed and a fourth which has just been started upon, all testify to a grade of work that is thoroughly up to the highest standard of today.

Concrete Foundation
Freshets must have inconceivable force which will be able to wash out the masonry, which makes up these culverts. The foundations are a combination of piles driven close together deep into the earth with the intervening spaces filled in with solid concrete. Rocks, the size of small boulders have been freely employed to aid in strengthening the foundations.

Peculiar Stone
After the completion of the foundation the construction of the culvert proper is carried on with equal care. The sandstone which is used for this is a handsome reddish stone which presents difficulties in working it. The trouble is that an almost insignificant blow will chip off the corners of the stone. And in building that is done as carefully as this as no marred edges will pass the foreman's eye. Yet exposure to the weather will only harden the stone and after a time it would be a herculean task to attempt to undo the work that is under way.

Bridges Abolished
When this system is completed there will be no bridges in the places where the culverts are being erected. As it is these pieces of masonry stand underneath the bridges which are still undisturbed. When the work is completed the present spans will be taken out and a solid embankment will be built up. The curved cement roofs of the culverts will be covered over and only the flaring stone opening will be seen from the river.

Nothing Like It
One of the old employees of the road who has been with the company since the early seventies with construction gangs said that he had never seen anything like it. That they were going down as deep for the foundations as they had ever gone before and then going seven feet more.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR MISS POORMAN

Members of the Physical Culture Class Are Entertained in Pleading Manner.

Last evening Miss Irvinia Poorman celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of her birth by entertaining the members of Mrs. J. B. Day's physical culture class at the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. Frank Poorman, 213 South Academy street. Twenty young ladies enjoyed the pleasures of the evening which included a peanut walk in which Miss Maude Young won the prize, a photograph of the members of the class taken at their recent picnic. Miss Poorman also presented the guests with a small little souvenir book bearing a kodak view on the cover in which those present wrote their names. During the evening Misses Flora Rider and Eureka Kimball gave pleasing recitations, Miss Rider giving a negro dialect poem, "When the Folks is Gone" and Miss Kimball reciting "Papa's Boy."

Light refreshments were served at a long table handsomely decorated with flowers. Great bowls of sweet peas stood on each end of the table while in the center were fragrant pink carnations, a gift from Mrs. Day. Mrs. Poorman was assisted in serving by Mrs. F. T. Richards. Little Miss Grace Holding, cousin of the hostess, also assisted very prettily waiting on the guests at the door. The evening was one of pleasure for the guests and Miss Poorman received many handsome souvenirs of the occasion, the most costly one being a beautifully engraved gold watch and chain from her parents.

IN THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW

Timothy O'Connor

Timothy O'Connor, ninety-two years of age, an uncle of Mrs. J. C. Hemmens, 163 Cherry street passed away yesterday morning at Monroe. For the last three years Mr. O'Connor has resided in this city with Mrs. Hemmens and was highly respected by all who knew him. The remains were brought to this city this afternoon from Monroe and taken to Mrs. Hemmens's home. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon from St. Patrick's church, the interment being at Mount Olivet cemetery.

Sarah Strow

The funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah Strow was held yesterday afternoon at three o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Smith, 55 Dodge street. Rev. J. T. Henderson of the First Presbyterian church officiated and consoled the sorrowing family for their great loss. The interment was held at Oak Hill cemetery. The pall bearers were Edward Rotherham, George Hanthorn, J. A. Sutherland, Charles Tarrant, Chas. Cleland and J. B. Green.

The comedians, singers, dancers, acrobats, aerial artists, in fact all that goes to make this class of entertainment complete have been selected with more than ordinary care and the result is the biggest show of the kind ever produced. The scenery and costumes used are veritable triumphs of the scenic artist's and costumer's skill, and from a brilliant eighteen karat setting in which reposes this dazzling first water diamond of minstrelsy. The company numbers thirty-five performers, every one of whom is a specialist in his own particular line.

NEWS OF THE CITY IN BRIEF.

Meet Monday: An important meeting of the cadets will be held on Monday evening, at 7:30. Every member in town should be present.

False Alarm: A broken wire in the Janesville Machine Co.'s private plant called out the department at 2:35 this afternoon. The boys lost no time in getting down to the works but found that their services were not needed.

Municipal Court: Judgement was rendered in the municipal court this morning for $470.50 in favor of Jerry Powell against J. L. Davey, it being the amount due on a $400 promissory note together with the costs of the action. There was no appearance on the part of the defendant, Wm. G. Wheeler appeared for the plaintiff.

Struck A Wagon: The Chicago train over the Janesville & Northwestern road struck a wagon just outside of Chicago this morning. The pilot on the engine was broken and the front end dented in some. The wagon was badly smashed but the driver escaped injury.

CITY HALL WORK IS DELAYED

MISTAKE IN STAIRS WILL CAUSE SOME DELAY

WE'RE A LITTLE TOO SHORT

Miscalculation in Construction of Stairs is The Cause of Trouble

Through some miscalculation on the part of the builders or of the makers of the stairs, it has been found necessary to tear down the second landing in the city hall and reset the beam which supports it and to which the posts of the stairs should be attached. No part of the stairs has fitted as it should and considerable delay will be caused in the work.

Stairs Short
The stringers to which the steps are attached, and which form the sides of the stairs have been found to be too short to reach from the first landing; at the main floor level, to the second landing and this has necessitated the change. Whereas it was expected that every part of the stairs would fit exactly, and it would be a comparatively easy matter to adjust the stairs in place, it was found that there would be no possible way of lengthening them at a place to make them reach from landing to landing.

Considerable Work
It will take some considerable time, and no little labor to take down this entire landing and place the beam where it will need to be in suit the stairs. The work on the landing had been completed with the exception of tiling and the entire structure, framework and fireproof cement lining, will have to be torn down.

No Part Fits
Practically every joint in the stairs has needed some slight change. In some places the variation has been quite appreciable, and the workmen, who have this part of the work in charge have been delayed by the necessity of altering the joints. Up to this time each error had been such that it could be remedied by shortening the parts, but this latest defect has blocked the work until the framework of the building can be readjusted.

DEDICATE NEW HALL

G. A. R. and W. R. C. Held Special Exercises Last Night

With the sound of life and drum the W. H. Sargent Post No. 20, and the W. H. Sargent Corps, No. 21, announced to the outside world that the dedicatory exercises of their new hall were about to be held. The recently rented rooms in the Carle building over Ziegler's store were officially opened last night with an appropriate program of speeches, music and reminiscences.

Attractive Rooms
It was several weeks ago that the possessions of the G. A. R. Post and the Woman's Relief Corps, were transferred from their former quarters on West Milwaukee street, but since that time the new rooms have been undergoing a complete transforming process which has fitted them admirably for their use. All of the cherished possessions of the Post had been put in place to decorate the room, and everything indicated that time and pains had been spent in making the rooms attractive.

Interesting Program
The exercises of the evening were especially interesting. Post Commander J. L. Bear had charge of the program which opened with patriotic songs by the company after which Mr. Bear spoke very briefly concerning the new rooms.

"Moonlight in Venice," was played by the Mandolin club, including Harry Haggart, Lawrence Doty and Edward Wray after which Capt. Pliny Norcross gave one of his characteristic and interesting addresses. Mrs. P. A. McGuire read a selection and this number was followed by a piano solo by Miss Olive Trumble.

New Altar Presented
Remarks by Mrs. Dunwiddie, president of the Woman's Relief Corps, were next and at the close she presented the Post with a handsome new altar with the compliments of the Corps.

A well played violin solo by Miss Mabel Hillbrandt and an excellent address by S. C. Cobb were followed by patriotic songs, after which the balance of the evening was devoted to a social. Ice cream and cake were served and it was a late hour when Taps was sounded by Bugler Curtis Carpenter.

Off To Camp

Special Train of Soldier Boys' Passes Through City

The St. Paul and Northwestern railroad stations had quite a military appearance this morning, on account of several companies of the state militia on their way to Camp Douglas, stopping over here to get the special which was to carry them to their destination.

The special was run over the St. Paul road and consisted of six coaches and a baggage car. The companies on the special were Co. C, Whitewater, 58 men; Co. H, of Monroe, 65 men and Co. E, of Beloit, 64 men.

They were in charge of Major Stearns of Monroe. Surgeon Major J. B. Whiting, Jr., was the only one from this city to join the companies here, he being the only military representative left in Janesville since Co. I was mustered out.

MITCHELL TALKS TO THE MINERS

MEN MUST WIN OR SUFFER

If the Union is Disrupted the Operators Will Force the Cost of the Struggle Upon Those Who Return to the Mines.

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 2.—President Mitchell addressed a mass meeting of 7,000 miners in the Roundwoods. He was enthusiastically greeted and his utterances loudly cheered. He was accompanied by a number of district presidents and organizers, several of whom made brief speeches, but interest centered in the labor chief, who said in part:

"It has been said by some who are not your friends that the miners of the Scranton region are getting tired of the strike and are about to return to work. I come to find out if this is so. I want to know if you are going to return to work, dishonoring your organization and dishonoring yourselves." (Cries of "Never, never," "No, no," "Don't you believe it," and the like.)

Officers Not to Blame.

"If the strike is lost, may God Almighty help the men, women and children who depend for their subsistence on the mining of anthracite coal. If the strike is lost you will pay the cost of the strike. I want to say that the anthracite miners went on strike themselves. They voted for the strike. It was not the officers of the United Mine Workers' union who called the strike. It will never end until you vote it ended.

"The coal trust may be powerful and strong, but the American people, whose hearts throb in sympathy with the miners' cause, are stronger than the coal trust. Ninety per cent of the people have agreed that the miners are right and the operators wrong.

Violence is Deplored.

"The one among you who violates the law is the worst enemy you have. No one is more pleased than the operators in New York to hear of disorder in the coal regions. I want our men to exercise their rights that insure to them under the laws, but I want that no man shall transgress the laws.

"The strike will be won. I have no more doubt about it than I have that I am standing here addressing you. This is possibly the last time I ever will talk to you. I want to impress on you the importance of winning this strike. If you win, as you surely will, there will be no more strikes; there will be a basis of adjustment arrived at which will prevent strikes.

"If you lose the strike the operators will make you pay for their strike losses by reducing your wages. And if you lose the strike you lose your organization. I trust and hope and constantly pray you will stand as you did in 1900."

Before the handshaking episode had begun Chairman Phillips asked all who favored a fight to a finish to raise their hands. Every hand went up.

Twenty-five years ago 10,000 striking miners, who had been out for six months, met at this same Roundwoods and with uplifted hands avowed that they would not return to work until their demands were granted. A week later the miners went back to work without gaining any concessions and with their union disrupted.

MINERS GET WRIT.

Judge Goff Orders Marshal to Produce Prisoners.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 2.—The miners are jubilant over what they consider their first victory during the present contest with the operators. An application was made for the issuance of a writ of habeas corpus for Thomas Haggerty and other strike leaders sentenced to jail by Judge Jackson for violation of the injunction issued by him. The petition was presented to Judge Nathan Goff of the United States circuit court, who, after hearing the argument in chambers, granted the writ asked for by the miners and ordered the marshal to produce Thomas Haggerty and other prisoners here for a hearing next Tuesday at 10 o'clock.

HEWITT REACHES FOUR SCORE

Flags Raised in Honor of New York's Former Mayor.

New York, Aug. 2.—State and city flags were raised over the City hall Friday by order of Mayor Low in honor of former Mayor Hewitt's eightieth birthday. As soon as the flags had been sent aloft and broken out Mayor Low sent a congratulatory telegram to Mr. Hewitt, who is at present staying at Reverie Cove, near Bar Harbor.

New York, Aug. 2.—The international committee of the Young Men's Christian association announced that it had been pledged the $1,000,000 endowment fund for which it has been striving and for which the impulse had been given during the jubilee year by the promise of $250,000 from one of its best friends. Of the amount pledged six persons gave $632,000. Only 150 persons besides association secretaries were asked to subscribe and of that number fifty-six contributed.

Pana, Ill., Aug. 2.—The city of Pana is in total darkness. At 12 o'clock Friday night the lighting contract expired. Negotiations between the city and plant have been going on for some time, but no agreement has been reached. Receiver Shumway says he cannot reduce the cost of lighting the city and the mayor and city council contend that the lighting of the city at the present rate is running the city deeper into debt.

PLAYS GHASTLY JOKE ON WIFE

Husband Reports Own Death, Then Scars Spouse into Hysterics.

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 2.—Mrs. Erastus Johnson, wife of a local railroad man, donned widow's weeds a fortnight ago when she was told her husband had been killed in the east. When he walked into her home, sound and well, she promptly went into hysterics and later yielded to nervous prostration. Johnson said he had caused the report of his death to reach his wife "just for a joke."

Gold Mine Suits.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 2.—Suits have been filed in the federal court by the Portland Gold Mining Company against the Monument Gold Mining Company for $250,000 damages. BUSINESS TONE CONTINUES GOOD

RETAIL TRADE KEEPS ACTIVE

Grain Prices Take Sudden Drop When the July Speculative Element is Wiped Out—Rains Appear to Have Benefited the Crops.

New York, Aug. 2.—"Aside from heavy rains in Texas, the week's crop news is encouraging. Manufacturing plants are well occupied as a rule, iron and steel leading, followed by textiles and footwear. Fuel scarcity is still causing delay, although coke ovens are surpassing all previous figures of output, and bituminous mines are vigorously operated. At most points retail trade is active and preparations continue for heavy fall sales, while spring lines are opened with good results. Railway earnings thus far available for July show a gain of 3.3 per cent over 1901 and 20.8 per cent over 1900."

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade gives the foregoing summary of the week's business. Continuing the review says:

Prosperity in Iron.

"With business insight for at least a year, the leading departments of the iron and steel industry may properly be considered prosperous. Notwithstanding the rapid increase in producing capacity, consumptive demand has grown still faster, and the recent official report of a new high record of pig iron production at 8,308,574 tons for the first half of 1902 is accompanied by the statement that unsold stocks at the end of that period were only 23,861 tons, compared with 372,550 tons a year previously. In textile manufacturing the feature was the opening of men's wear worsted fabrics for next year with a general advance of 2½ to 10 per cent. Cotton goods tend in favor of the purchasers owing to the prospects of a large cotton crop and the light export movement.

Hides and Grain.

"Shoe shops are active on spring samples, and buyers are numerous in the Boston market. A very striking advance in leather has followed the upward movement of hides, stimulated by heavy purchases, a single sale of 100,000 sides of hemlock sole being reported.

"Grain prices declined sharply as the month of speculative manipulation drew to a close and legitimate trading resumed a more normal volume. Cotton held fairly steady, more because of the large short interest than the floods in Texas. Thus far it is probable that rains have done more good than harm. Demands for consumption continue liberal. Meats have also shown a tendency to seek slightly lower quotations, but light receipts and higher quality do not promise any extensive relief in the immediate future."

TO BUILD TWO NEW STEAMERS

Will Be Largest Side-Wheel Vessels in the World.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 2.—At a conference between President Alexander McVittie of the Detroit Shipbuilding company, the local branch of the American Shipbuilding company, and General Manager W. C. McMillan of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation company, a final agreement was reached for the building of two new side-wheel passenger steamers to outrank in size and carrying capacity any side-wheel passenger steamers in the world. The estimated cost of the two boats was given out as $1,700,000, or $850,000 for each boat.

PANIC ON A PASSENGER BOAT

Many Have Narrow Escapes in Collision on Ohio River.

Louisville, Aug. 2.—The steamer City of Wheeling had a narrow escape from serious disaster in the Ohio River off North Bend, Ind., while bound from Cincinnati to Madison, Ind., with a cabin full of passengers. Part of her freight was washed overboard and her passengers were thrown into a panic for a few moments as the result of a collision with the steamer City of Cincinnati, en route from Cincinnati to Louisville.

Landslide Threatens.

Oil City, Pa., Aug. 2.—Residents in West Main street have been notified that symptoms of a large and dangerous slide have been discovered on a Clark summit which may at any time overwhelm them with an avalanche of earth and rocks. The street runs along the base of this hill, which is several hundred feet high.

May Enjoin Courthouse Contract.

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 2.—J. R. Davies of Newton county, Indiana, and an attorney left for Indianapolis to apply for a supreme court injunction restraining the letting of a contract for building a courthouse at Goodland.

DEAFNESS IS CURED BY SHOCK

Connecticut Man Struck by Lightning Has Hearing Restored.

Torrington, Conn., Aug. 2.—Robert Innes of Thomaston, who was slightly shocked by lightning during a recent storm, has had his hearing completely restored to him. During the last twenty years Mr. Innes had suffered from deafness, but when he recovered from the effects of the lightning shock he could hear a clock tick and now can hear as well as before he became afflicted.

Instead the lad opened fire and the men fled. One of them was shot in the thigh and was so badly wounded that he had to be assisted in his escape by his pals.

REVIEW OF REVIEWS.

Senator Spooner as a Practical Legislator of the Best Type.

In Congress, as everywhere, the tendency is toward specialization. Senators take up one line or another, become as proficient as possible in that, and give very little attention to other subjects. Mr. Spooner has never been a specialist. He has carefully avoided identifying himself with any particular topic or question. He is an "all-around" man. Everything of importance is his specialty. He is so willing to work, so eager to investigate, so tireless and so alert, and his sincerity and judgment are so highly valued, that all the specialists consult him. He is a sort of consultation doctor for all the legislative practitioners. It does not matter what it is—Cuba, the Philippines, Porto Rico, our colonial policy in general, the isthmian canal, war-tax reduction, finance, the tariff—every chairman of committee who has an important measure to take in on the floor, seeks the advice of the Senator from Wisconsin before doing so. As a lawyer and maker of laws, as a watchdog against the furtive slipping in of of mounds, as a suggester of stronger and better methods, as a deviser of practical schemes, which will meet existing conditions in the Senate and the country, he is without a peer in public life. The natural result, despite himself, and not at all through his seeking, is that his finger is felt in nearly every big legislative pie. His impress is more or less upon every policy, every great act. Sometimes his work is known to the country, as in his happy solution of the isthmian canal problem, but oftener it is not. He cares not who gets the credit, so the work is done, and done right. The writer could name half a dozen important provisions of law which were placed upon the scroll by Spooner, not one of which was he ever known, outside the senate chamber, to have had any connection with. From a sketch of "Spooner, of Wisconsin," by Walter Wellman, in the American Monthly Review of Reviews for August.

Late Literary News.

It is not often that one finds a love story which is absolutely satisfactory and a fine love-story ending in reconciliation is still rarer thing. Such, however, is "Broken Toys" which its Roman setting and its atmosphere of noble love and tragic renunciation. Another story which will interest readers of the August Cosmopolitan is "The Soul of Mozart" which centers in the theme of transmigration of souls, a problem fascinating even the ancients. It is a tradition that society stories are written by those who have never moved in society; but Mrs. Poulney Bigelow writes "The Story of a Scented Note" from within the charmed circle. The tale of Helene's passion for Mathilde by Richard Le Gallienne, and a pretty little Japanese romance help to make the number an interesting one for reading on cool verandas by the sea or within the city's walls.

The Beech-Ridge.

By Francis Sterne Palmer

With architecture reaching high In airy fretwork to the sky, Sunlit, ore pleasant than lower lands,

Over the wood the beech-ridge stands (As in feudal days looked down A monk-built minster on a town.)

There from the south the birds come first Singers whose spring anthems burst The chains that all through winter bound

In seeming death the fair spruce-ground.

In moss-laid paths of cedar swamp The hare have heard and left their romp, The young fawns make their timid way,

Far from the nest the young grouse stray,—

Charmed all, and led to the gray beech-trunks (As peasants, rapt, heard the chanting monks)!

The Golden Knight. A slim young knight in golden mail Came riding down the field, Of yellow metal was his lance And yellow was his shield;

His cuirass and his shield, And yellow was the waving plume That danced upon the breeze, And yellow, too, the silken curls, That rippled to his knees.

He halted by a silver stream, And in the moonlight pale, The chilly dew like jewels shone Upon his gleaming mail.

A wind that told of coming frost His saffron feather shook, And sent the red October leaves In showers upon the brook.

But all the along the eastern sky A blinding glory came, As morning robed the hills with light And crowned the woods with flame; And when I saw the golden knight In glittering armor pass, A slender spray of golden red Was tilting with the grass.

FIFTY YEARS OF WEDDED LIFE

MR. AND MRS. M. M. HUMPHREY
CELEBRATE TODAY

ARE OLD SETTLERS IN STATE

Immediate Family Here to Join in The Celebration of Event.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Humphrey today celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home on the corner of St. Mary's and Prairie avenues. It was the first occasion on which the entire family have been together in many years and the fact that the reunion was held in honor of the golden wedding of the venerable father and mother added greatly to its pleasure.

At three o'clock dinner was served to only the members of the family.

Those who were at the table were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Humphrey and daughters, Lola and Gladys, of Sharon; Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Humphrey, son Heywood and daughter Helen, of Whitewater; Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Humphrey of Janesville; Mr. and Mrs. Hector Caradine and sons Mahlon and Gerald, of Monroe; and Miss Mary Humphrey, of Milwaukee.

Married in New York
Mr. Humphrey is seventy nine years of age and his wife is six years his junior. They were married in Horseheads, Chemung county, N. Y., August 2, 1852 and moved to Wisconsin in 1857. They settled at once in Emerald Grove, being among the pioneers of that village.

Moved From Emerald Grove
In 1882 Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey removed to Waterloo, Wis., where Mr. Humphrey was proprietor of the Badger State House. Ten years later they came to Janesville when Mr. Humphrey retired from active business life.

The Family
Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey have three sons, E. B. Humphrey, Sharon; J. N. Humphrey, Whitewater, and F. O. Humphrey, of this city, and two daughters, Sophia, Mrs. Hector Caradine, of Monroe, and Miss Mary Humphrey of Milwaukee. There are six grandchildren.

SOLDIER BOYS VISIT THE CITY

Company L, of Beloit, Stop on Their Way to Camp
—Douglas

Company L, of the First Regiment, Wisconsin National Guards, passed through here this morning on their way to the annual encampment at Camp Douglas. For about two hours before their train left at 10:30 the members of the company, with the exception of those who were detailed to watch the cars, paraded the streets in groups of fours and fives.

Travelling in Style.
Instead of being packed together in one car for the whole company, as has usually been the case in the past, each platoon was allotted a separate car and words of rejoicing were heard on every side. Sixty men will answer to roll call at Camp Douglas. Of these a goodly number have enlisted as is annually the case within the past three or four weeks, in preparation for this week in camp.

WRONG SORT OF DONATION.

"I have called, sir, to see if you will contribute to our Home for Incurable Children?"
"Yes, rather! There's three of mine upstairs you can take at once, and I'll send the other two round as soon as they come home from school!"—Ally Sloper.

KILLED IT.

"Do you think my new song will live?"
"I am afraid not."
"Why so?"
"I heard Mrs. Schrecker murder it last night."—Detroit Free Press.

FARMER DALE'S MISTAKE

(Original.)

I was on a wheeling tour and stopped for supper and all night at a forlorn looking farmhouse. I was surprised to see no woman about, all the work being done by the owner of the place, Ezra Dale. After supper I lighted a pipe and sat on the porch smoking. Dale came and sat beside me.

"You have finished your evening chores early," I said. "When my wife is without a servant, she never gets the dishes washed before 9 o'clock."

"Want, ye see, I don't do it that a-way. I wash dishes once a week. Then I put 'em all on ter the wagon, drive 'em inter the creek, take a mop, an' when I get through they shine like pewter."

"Don't you think a wife would be handy? She could do your mending."

"Don't need no wife. I got needles an' thread an' buttons. There's my kit." And he handed me a case containing the articles mentioned and no more.

"Where's your thimble?" I asked.
"Don't need no thimble. I tried one once an' couldn't use it. It's handier to git the head of the needle ag'in the wall an' drive it through that a-way."

"Did you never have a love affair?"

"Yes, once. It was when I was a young feller—very young an' very green. I used to look on a gal as a beenthen would look on a sacred image. There was a little one livin' across the creek, Farmer Owens' daughter Daisy. Party? Ye bet, an' gentle as a kitten. She tuk a shine to me. I was a fair lookin' young feller then, straight an' slim an' light on my feet. One evenin' I was a-passin' Farmer Owens', and Daisy come runnin' out with her finger a-bleedin' an' asked me ter tie it up fur her. I had ter git her arm under mine somehow an' hold on ter her hand an' wrap the linen strip an' wind the string an' a lot of things all at the same time. While I was a-doin' of it her hair got ag'in my cheek, an'—want, I lost my head an', turnin', put an arm around her an' kissed her."

"Do ye know, stranger, I've since made up my mind she done it all a-purpose. I b'lieve she cut her finger intentionally. I tell ye, women folks is tricky."

"I think that was a very nice feminine way of catching your attention," I remarked. "Go on."

"That's jist what I did do. I went on from day ter day, week ter week, till it seemed ter me if anything happened between me an' that gal I'd collapse. Somethin' did happen. Farmer Owens tuk a farm han' fur the layin', an' what did Daisy do but take him out in her buggy that her father bought fur her at Christmas an' drive right by that house a-purpose ter show him off ter me. I tell ye, stranger, she had the wickedest eye in her eye ever see."

"Another feminine trait," I observed. "Miss Daisy was evidently a woman."

"She was a woman, stranger, an' the worst kind of a one," Dale went on lugubriously. "She broke me all up. I jist rented this farm an' went away. I didn't come back fur ten years. Then I made up my mind that women folks wasn't wuth worryin' about, an' I tuk my farm ag'in an' began ter work it. The first time I went by Farmer Owens' Daisy come out—she had grown ter be a fine lookin' young woman of twenty-six—an' what do ye suppose she did?"

"I can't imagine."
"Asked me if I wouldn't tie up a cut finger. She had the same wicked look in her eye she had when she drove that lopsided farm han' by my house ten years afore. Women is the persistentest critters I ever see. I jist squared off an' said: 'Ye don't git me that a-way ag'in. Ye done it once, an' that's enough.' But, do ye know, stranger, she was so slick about it that in five minutes I had my arm about her an' she was a-restin' her head on my shoulder. She was a-cryin', too—cryin' crocodile tears, no doubt."

"Want, we was engaged, but it didn't las' long. The question come up as ter whether we'd be married by a justice or a parson. I don't like parsons myself, an' I wanted a justice. Daisy wanted a parson, an' she was so blame set about it that I reckoned if she was as obstinate about a small matter like that she'd be wantin' ter run the farm, so I called the thing off, an' I've been livin' alone here ever since."

"Mr. Dale," I said, "you have mistaken natural feminine traits for general cussedness."

"That's what they is, I tell ye, stranger. 'Ye don't understand."

"You have declined to give up that which to a woman is a great deal, while to you it is nothing. Miss Owens was right to insist on being married by a parson, and you were ungenerous to refuse her. Now, let me give you a bit of advice. Miss Owens is still single? Yes. Well, go to her and tell her that when you first met her you were a blundering idiot and that later you were an obstinate brute. Say that if she will overlook your past errors you will spend your life in doing penance."

"Why, stranger, if I was ter do that I'd never have my own way about anything afterward."

"It is the only way to have your own way about everything with a woman. Toss it all into her hands, and she'll toss it right back to you. More than that, she'll expect you to lead, and if you don't lead she'll not respect you."

"Ye don't mean it! Say, stranger, what sort of a makeup do ye call that anyway?"

The next summer I rode past Farmer Dale's place. It was the trimmest looking farm in the county. After supper the farmer told me how much better contented he was while Mrs. Dale was washing the dishes.
